TELL WHETHER FARMING IS PROFITABLE

Some Examples of What Has Been Accomplished and What the Same Pluck and Industry Can Do Again.

The November issue of the Corn Belt gives a number of statements of what Nebraska farmers have accomplished in the way of providing for old age and a rainy day by attending strictly to their farms and not giving up when confronted by the discouragements which always confront the settler in a new country.

The Rankin brothers of Cambridge say: We give below our experience in running a hog ranch in the Republican valley. We hired all the work done, paying a little more than the market rate for a month or two. Half of the wages is charged up to the hog, the remainder being paid in cash. We consider an exceptional in any way and believe as good or better record as the following can be made by any farmer of any rank.

PAID FOR HOGS, CORN AND LABOR: $2,375.35. Hogs sold from farm in 1907, 1,200, at $1.95 per head, $2,340.00. 40 pigs on hand at $1.25 per head, $50.00. 200 bushels of corn paid for at $1.20 per bushel, $240.00. Total $2,630.00.

WESTERN, Neb., Oct. 16, 1897.—I settled in Saline county in the year 1897. I moved from Ohio county, Mo., where I had been renting, but concluded to move west and get a home of my own. I took a home, and had lots of hard work in it. I fed cattle and hogs for a number of years.

HOLDREGE, Neb., Nov. 10, 1897.—I came to Phelps county, Mo., in 1887. I had a small capital when I came here, with a few dollars and a horse. I bought a few acres of land, and have prospered, being entirely out of debt. There has never been a complete failure of crops here, and I have always had a good crop of wheat, corn and alfalfa.

BEAVER CITY, Neb., Oct. 20, 1897.—I came to Furnas county, Nebraska, in 1874, from England, and have since that time been engaged in farming. I have never had a crop fail, and I have always had a good crop of wheat, corn and alfalfa.

FRIEND, Neb., Oct. 16, 1897.—In the spring of 1877 father and I went to the conclusion he had struggled long enough in the east and he came west, "way beyond the blue of civilization, among the Indians, where people live in huts, and where there are no schools or churches, and in fact, are only about half-civilized. It was said: "Bill is going to take them young ones and bring them to you in that way."

WEST POINT, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—The Board of Supervisors met Tuesday afternoon and the first business in order was the election of two members of the board to fill the vacancies occasioned by the resignation of S. K. Krake and the death of Fred W. Vogt. The board unanimously selected F. W. West of Wisner to fill the vacancy in district No. 3 and D. W. Burke of Beaver City to fill the vacancy in district No. 1.

DECATUR, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—Mrs. Will Hamer left her home and husband yesterday morning and took the train for Calhoun and she has not returned. Ed Carlisle, a travel agent, who has been living in a tent for some time, has been indicted for barnyard stealing.

WEST POINT, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—Judge Meier yesterday in his courtroom, Frederick J. Wieman and Miss Adethel Meyer. The bride came direct from California, where Mr. Wieman had resided for a number of years.

DEPARTING CONTRACT LABORERS. BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 21.—Forty-eight men from the interior of Austria, who were arrested last week in the swamps of Mississippi by United States inspectors on the charge of violating the alien labor contract law, were brought here today with their leader, Jakob Fokje, and broken up in the immigrant home of detention at Leavenworth. They will be sent back to Bremen on the steamship Muenchen of the North German Lloyd line in a few days. The men arrived here September 8 and were engaged in cutting barrel staves.

ADVENTURES OF THE MAN WHO SHOT

Henry Carpenter. DAKOTA CITY, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—James Linville, who on the morning of August 28, at Goodwin, in this county, had a drunken row with Henry Carpenter, who died the same day, and who since that time has eluded the officers, now lies in the county jail, having been brought here last night by Sheriff Borowsky from Spink county. South Dakota. Linville is about 34 years of age and of good appearance. He freely talks of the crime, saying the deed was committed in self-defense. He claims to have never seen Carpenter since he was shot. Linville pulled his gun with his left hand and shot and then for fear of violence fled. He says the officers at one time were so close to him that he was obliged to fire. Linville heard them talk. He partly swam the Missouri river near Martinsburg and went up into South Dakota and was captured at Goodwin.

BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—The second annual banquet and exchange of courtesies, which about 100 republicans and democrats of Beatrice had agreed upon, was held last night at the Paddock hotel, where covers were laid for nearly the full membership of the club. SINS OF OUR CIVILIZATION

Not Less Offensive Than Those of the Heathen in Ancient Times.

ALL ARE VIOLATIONS OF THE SAME LAW

Outline of W. Discourse Delivered by Rev. Dr. Stetson of Des Moines in Beth Eden Baptist Church.

The vacancy in the pulpit of the Beth Eden Baptist church, caused by the resignation of Rev. Mr. Evers, was temporarily filled yesterday by Rev. H. L. Stetson, D. D., president of the Baptist college at Des Moines, Ia. At the morning service Dr. Stetson departed from the customary usage insofar that he neglected the formality of a text, and his discourse consisted of a practical talk on the sins of the modern civilization compared with those of the heathen nations which were discussed in the prophecy of Amos.

By way of preliminary the speaker briefly sketched the characteristics of the various nations to which Amos referred and the peculiar sins which the prophet charged against each. He then declared that though sins might differ in outward form, the essence was the same. The heathen barbarians, which consisted of rapine, cruelty, outrage and spoliation had a counterpart in the atrocities that had been committed upon them. About the year 1800 a result was that they were unable to pay the interest on their mortgages. They had to live so far as purchases were concerned on credit, and in fact had to live on the jobbers. Better times came in 1836 and a fair average crop was produced throughout the west. This was followed by a year of crop failure, which was followed by a year of crop failure, which was followed by a year of crop failure.

FOUND WANDERING ON STREETS.

Inmates of Institute for Feeble Minded. BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—Three low grade inmates of the Institute for Feeble Minded were found wandering about the city late last night by the police and were taken care of at the police station until this morning, when they were returned to the institution. The management of the institute is very strict, and such a thing to occur. The boys would probably have perished had they not been taken in. One of the boys is from Omaha.

HELD UP AT HAY SPRINGS.

HAY SPRINGS, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—A holdup occurred early this evening about five miles southwest of here. The bandits were two women and one man, who were riding on a stagecoach. The victim was Mr. Kinglesmid, a farmer from Wyoming. He had sold out recently and by wagon was on his way overland to St. Joseph, Mo., with some $200 on his person. He first encountered the bandits riding horseback. Both had veils over their faces, but did not look suspicious. To his surprise, an order was given of hands up. He was then ordered to get down and lie on the ground. The bandits took his watch and money, and then rode off. Mr. Kinglesmid regained his senses the money was missing, and he saw the robbers riding at great speed in a westerly direction.

WARM WEATHER FOR PASTURES.

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—The warm weather of the last month following the October rains has benefited pastures considerably. In some places the bluegrass started up the same as in the spring. The number of cattle and sheep fed in this county exceeds that of any other county. It is estimated that over $6,000 sheep will be fattened on Dodge county corn and hay this winter. The number of cattle being fed is about 100,000 head. The feed situation is very good, and the farmers are well pleased with the results of the season.

GOSSIP FROM THE GRIDIRON

Saturday's Games Considered from a Purely Critical Point.

PENNSYLVANIA EASILY THE CHAMPIONS

Quakers Show the Best Form on Actual Results—Startling Result—Western Notes.

The greatest games of football that will be recorded this season have now been played and it is now a matter of judgment only of the results it looks as though the eleven representing the University of Pennsylvania was fairly entitled to the premier position in the foot ball annals of 1897. That neither Yale nor Princeton will meet the apparent superior players from Philadelphia is to be regretted, as the stubborn exclusiveness merely obscures the national supremacy. Harvard played Yale to a tie. Neither side could score, but most of the playing was in the Yale end of the field and there was a shade of difference in the relative merits of the two teams it was in favor of the boys from Cambridge. Harvard has since been defeated by Pennsylvania, the score being 15 to 6, though the analysis of the game shows that Harvard was outplayed by Pennsylvania more than shown by the score. In 1896, Harvard defeated Yale, and if Pennsylvania could have defeated Yale, it would have been a more fitting opponent for Princeton, which team succumbed to Yale's prowess? But foot ball in the potential mood is not satisfactory. It is true, but it is not a game that is worth the name of a game. It is a game that is worth the name of a game. It is a game that is worth the name of a game.
